

Kahoot vs Quizlet Live

By: Howard Huang and Luke Hogan

Kahoot is the traditional method of using a game-based program to test students' knowledge. Kahoot is completely free to everyone and can be used for quizzing, competitions, and surveys. Kahoot also includes the new Jumble, which features a mix and match testing style. Quizlet Live is a relatively new quizzing strategy that is completely team based. The quizlet live strategy is for the players to come together and battle the opposing team. Quizlet can only be used to show what a team knows as a whole rather than one person. Quizlet is the ideal way to get students to work together. However, Quizlet live is also free, however, for extra options like being able to choose your team is reserved for teachers who pay $39.99 a year for this service. After reviewing the results multiple studies of students' reactions to each of these quizzing methods, we have concluded that Kahoot is better than Quizlet Live.
